At least 27 mild earthquakes have struck near Azle since Nov. 1, according to the U.S. Geological Survey. We'll talk this hour about the effects the quakes have had on the community and whether they are related to the booming local oil and gas business. We'll be joined by SMU seismologist Brian Stump, who is studying the recent seismic activity in North Texas, and Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter Lisa Song of Inside Climate News.
